

Action Entered To Quash By-Law

W. H. Clark Applies For Order From Presiding
Judge Setting Aside
G. T. P. By-Law On Grounds That Injury
Is Done His Property.

Short, Cross & Biggar, acting as solicitors for W. H. Clark, the lumberman, entered action this morning for an order to quash the Grand Trunk Pacific bylaw.

The papers in connection with the application recite that the agreement by virtue of certain clauses injures and depreciates the value of the property of W. H. Clark.

The application is made to the presiding judge and will come up on Friday of next week, Nov. 2nd.

This hearing of the G. T. P. case before the railway commission in the meantime was postponed for one week and will therefore come up for hearing in Ottawa tomorrow. City Solicitor Beck is in Ottawa on account of the hearing and Mr. Newell, who is acting solicitor during his absence had nothing to say.

Mayor May is also in Ottawa attending the commission.

W. H. Clark, when seen admitted that he was taking action but said he had nothing to say about the matter at all.

Wm. Short, of Short, Cross & Biggar, stated that the application was Mr. Clark's personal application and that they were not acting as solicitors for the Canadian Northern nor had the C. N. R. anything to do with the application to quash.

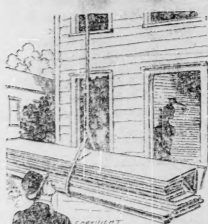

Mr. Van Ardel did not know of the action until told by the Bulletin. He had nothing to say for publication.

Want Car Line on Kinistino

East Enders Signing Petition Against Commissioners Plans

Claim That Namayo and Sutherland Plan Will Not Serve the East Side—Want Track to Rat Creek on Kinistino Ave.

East end residents are not by any means satisfied with the plan for street railway construction recommended by the commissioners which proposes to build the line up Namayo to Sutherland, thence across to First, thence down First to Jasper, making a loop by those streets. They have prepared a petition which is being numerously signed and which will be presented to the city council on Tuesday evening next, a delegation with a solicitor as spokesman accompanying the petition.

The following is the petition:—
To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Edmonton:—

Gentlemen,—We, the signers of this petition, being ratepayers and residents of Edmonton, respectfully beg to make known our wishes respecting the proposed street railway recently discussed in your meeting.

We desire that the line be extended as far east as Kinistino on Jasper, northward to Edmonton, or at least to Sutherland street, instead of being laid on Namayo avenue, for the following reasons:

First—Kinistino avenue is much more central for a street car line than Namayo avenue. A car line on the latter street would be practically worthless to us.

Second—While we do not wish to encourage any strife or rivalry between the east end and the west end of the city, we cannot help feeling that undue favoritism is being

EVENTS WON BY DEAD MEN.

Last month at a race meeting held at Arisa, on the Rosario Railway, a jockey named Mario Oliva took part in one of the races. When half the course had been traversed the spectators were horrified to see him swaying in his saddle as though he had lost control over his mount. He retained his seat, however, and his horse, which passed the winning post first, at length stopped of its own accord, and turned suddenly. Then the jockey fell from the saddle—a corpse. The general opinion was that Oliva had been dead some time before the race was won.

In February, 1899, James Somerville was one of the competitors in a bicycle race. In the last lap there was a strenuous struggle for the leadership which Somerville at length wrested from rivals and at length forged ahead. Twenty-five yards from the tape however he was seen to relax his hold on the handle bars, but, although he likewise lost his footing, he stuck to his machine, and, amid a scene of indescribable excitement, won by half a wheel. While yet the air was ringing with cheer and plaudits, Somerville pitched forward from his bicycle and was picked up dead. A doctor who was on the spot declared that he must have ridden the last few yards a corpse.

Carter, a noted pugilist, at the commencement of the last century, who also possessed no mean pedestrian powers, offered John Powers, a Lancaster athlete, 50 yards in a mile race. The challenge was accepted, and the contest duly came off. When a little over half the distance had been traversed, the runners were level. A ding-dong race then ensued until 50 yards from the end, when, with a desperate spurt Powers rushed ahead. Just as he reached the goal he stumbled, fell, and, born on by the impetus of his pace, rolled past the winning post a winner but a dead man.

Jonathan Kentfield, the renowned billiard player was once beaten at Brighton by a corpse. He was playing a local man to whom he was according a long start in a game of 200 up for a stake of £50. The game was called "191-196" with Kentfield leading. The champion made a cannon and broke down. Amid intense excitement the local celebrity bent over and made his stroke. Then, to the horror of the spectators, he fell to the floor a dead man, before the red and his own ball, rolling into pockets, had proclaimed winner.

An equally tragic and even more extraordinary incident took place in 1776 at Severnside. The occasion was a match between fifteen local players and five of the Hambleton Club, captained by the Earl of Tankerville. It was the second inning of the club who their last wicket to fall, wanted still two runs to win the match. T. Suster the batsman, faced the bowler, Juli, a local baker. The latter delivered the ball, but scarce had it left his hand when he staggered and fell to the ground. The next second the wicket of Suster, whose attention had doubtless been diverted by the bowler's fall, was shattered, and the game won by the dead man; for dead Juli was, to excitement having doubtless fatally affected a weak heart.

Calgary Alberta: The Algerian learns on good authority that a large boot and shoe manufacturing establishment will be located in Calgary. The exact site will be on the block opposite the warehouse of the Newburn Co. Ltd., on eighth avenue West. The establishment will be a branch of the J. D. King Co. which has headquarters in Quebec and large establishments in Toronto, Hamilton, and other places in Canada.

Calgary Alberta:—W. H. Mannix of Okotoks, It is understood, will shortly receive the first money coming due him from a legacy left him by his late uncle, Archdeacon McCarthy of Cork, Ireland. Mr. Mannix was calling on friends in the city on Friday and revealed the good news to them that he thought the entire value of the estate left him would amount to over $100,000 and that he expected to derive his first revenue from it not later than yesterday, the exact amount of which he did not state. Mr. Mannix was residing at Okotoks two years ago when his uncle died, but he had no anticipations that he would fall in for any part of the estate.

Regina Standard:—Swamp fever, or a low grade of typhoid, is infecting the Wascana and Lumasden districts and it is estimated that between one and two hundred animals are down with the disease. Already over a dozen cases have been brought into the city, these mostly from the Lumasden district, and are receiving treatment here.

"THEN AND NOW"

Edmonton people sitting with doors open to the glorious sun and air of Indian Summer are reading these days of seven inches of snow in the Niagara vineyards, of four feet in Colorado, of enough of it in South Dakota and Minnesota to block the trains, and of passenger coaches blown from the tracks in Salt Lake City.

And reading this, many an Edmonton citizen recalls days not so long gone when in the southern counties of Ontario or the prairie States of the middle west, teachers wearily with learning filled his youthful mind with a notion that the "rigorous climate" of the "Saskatchewan country" was to be contemplated only with a shudder. When memory and newspapers lay these two scenes of the past and present before him what wonder if the Edmontonian smile at the grim joke played by the weather man on the "wiseacre" of the "favored" country "back home?" On who can blame him if he recalls that nature has a fashion of working out a retributive justice everywhere?

A WELDON COME TO THE RESCUE

The spectacle of Dr. Weldon, the Conservative opponent of Hon. W. S. Fielding, in the Nova Scotia bye-election, posing as the exponent of fair play in elections, is an edifying one indeed. Dr. Weldon is not now to Canadian politics; he sat in the House of Commons for Albert county, New Brunswick, some years ago. He was in the Commons on 1887 when Mr. King was elected for Queens county, New Brunswick, but the returning officer on a technicality, made a wrong declaration declaring Baird, the Conservative candidate, elected. Baird took his seat and remained all through the session, drawing the indemnity which belonged to King. The matter came up in the Commons, and the chief defender of the outrage upon the electors of Queens county was this same Dr. Weldon who is now posing as the champion of honest politics.

What a contrast there is between the fair and many course always maintained in the Commons by Mr. Fielding and the record of Dr. Weldon, who was always ready to be a party defender no matter what the cause might be, and there is little danger of his long protestations in the present election being taken seriously by the electors of Queens and Shubenubee, who know his record.

Dr. Weldon is a fair sample of the opposition leaders who vain would call themselves the Eljahs of the twentieth century and what a difference there is between the records of the public men in charge of affairs in Canada today and that of the McGreivies, Langevins, Weldons, Haggars, Fosters, Fowlers, Bensetts et al. who have dominated the Conservative party for a quarter of a century and are still its guiding minds!

AN EXPENSIVE PREMIER

Premier McBride of British Columbia, struck the only discordant note at the conference of provincial premiers and the circumstances of the case and the nature of McBride's course lead strongly to the conclusion that he was concerned less with securing better financial terms for the province he represented than in being able to go back to that province with the appearance of a grievance against the Dominion Government.

General provincial elections are pending in the Pacific provinces, and Premier McBride may be accredited with understanding that the ability to represent himself as the abused but determined champion of his province against the misfeasance of a heartless Federal Government would be a splendid stock in trade to peddle throughout the doubtful constituencies during the campaign. The cause is the more urgent that the statements from New Westminster has not on general grounds the best hopes of success and unless fate can be persuaded to produce some wind-fall, undesirable things may happen to the McBride administration when the voters go to the polls.

The course of that gentleman at Ottawa strongly bears out the belief that political necessities dictate the deliberations of Premier McBride much more than the deliberations of Premier McBride were calculated to shape the future relations between British Columbia and the Dominion.

For, be it remembered, Premier McBride did not advocate at the conference the claims of British Columbia for special financial consideration, did not avail himself of the clause adopted by the conference reserving to any province the right to submit a memorandum of any special claims it might have as to such grants, and more than this, when the conference voluntarily voted a recommendation that British Columbia be given a special grant on account of its geographical character which would aggregate $1,000,000, Mr. McBride withdrew in feigned disgust.

When the case of his province for special consideration came before the conference, Mr. McBride placed himself on record in the following declaration: "I protest that the question of British Columbia's claim upon the Dominion government for a reference should not be considered by the conference, but that it is a question between the government of British Columbia and the Dominion government."

The position of Premier McBride is that the amount of the financial assistance which British Columbia shall receive from the Dominion is exclusively the business of the Dominion government and the government of British Columbia, and that in determining the amount of such assistance the other provinces of the Dominion have neither part nor lot.

On the face of things therefore it would appear to be the first and elementary duty of Premier McBride to refuse and renounce on behalf of British Columbia the right to share in the general increase of subsidies secured by the joint action of the other provinces. Assuming Premier McBride to be sincere or to desire to appear consistent he will decline to accept the $75,000 per year to which British Columbia is entitled by the new deals for specific grants adopted by the conference, will renounce all claim to the right of the province of British Columbia to share in the per capita increase when the population of that province shall reach the required figure, and will also forego the special grant of $100,000 per year for ten years, which the conference recommended to be made to British Columbia.

The latter sum he has already refused in word; it is up to him to make good in act and to follow also with the refusal of the other grants, which British Columbia should enjoy because of the recommendations of the conference. Should Premier McBride consider it desirable therefore to maintain the appearance of sincerity the people of British Columbia will have the privilege of endorsing or rejecting a premier whose services cost them in hard cash $15,000 per year, besides his official salary.

CURRENT COMMENT

Conservative journals affect to find pleasurable sarcasm in referring to Liberals as "the party of purity," though whether their answers are directed more at Liberalism or at purity is revealed by their language quite as little as by their practices. At any rate our bright friends should have no objections to the Liberals retaliating by addressing their opponents as "the party of impurity." This would not be all together sarcasm either.

Mr. Haultain now proposes to ask the courts to decide that there were no provincial elections last fall. Quite unnecessary. The gentleman's diary should enlighten him.

THE Oxford Hot Water Boiler is built to use absolutely all the heat generated in the fire-pot.

The inclining walls of the fire-pot expose great surface to the direct heat of the fire. The first section is greater in depth than the other sections, and the flues of this section are bell-shaped, against which the heat rays sharply impinge, so that a greater body of water gets the direct effect of the fire.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

The entire boiler is steel and iron. The joints are made with steel push nipples, which are absolutely indestructible—no rubber washers.

A Range That Burns All the Coal

MOST likely you have been throwing away good coal every day without knowing it. Coal that is only partially burned in the fire-box.

Because, with the ordinary range draft, the air current only strikes part of the fire.

Usually the damper door on such a range is situated at one end of the fire-box, which makes your fire hot at the draft end and cold at the other end.

Or the damper is perhaps on the left side of the stove, which makes an uneven fire for the same reason.

You are not only losing fuel, but your cooking and baking is unsatisfactory, for you cannot get a uniform heat.

Now, the draft in a Monarch Range is entirely different.

Instead of one damper door, there are two, one in each end of the fire-box.

These form a double or Duplex Draft, and both are regulated by the same handle.

So you get two direct currents of air at the same time, and your fire burns smoothly and evenly.

You open both drafts simultaneously and shut them off the same way.

The draft striking the fire from both directions consumes all the fuel, and gives you all the heating power from the coal.

When you empty the ash-pan in a Monarch Range, you are throwing away ashes—and ashes only—not coal.

And in addition to this, the Monarch is constructed of Steel and Malleable Iron, which can be riveted so tight and solid that no air-leaks can possibly happen as they do in cast iron ranges.

The top is Malleable Iron, polished and bright. You can keep it clean without smearing your range with blacking which gets on the cooking vessels, to make more work for you.

A $1.00 Cook Book Free

The Monarch Cook Book, written by Mrs. Helen Mae Thompson, an acknowledged authority on domestic science is a Real Book, not a cheap circular. Its pages bound in cloth on board covers—a book that would cost $1.00 at the book stores.

It contains 500 recipes, many of them new, all simple, easy to make and inexpensive. Has practical menus for the whole year and many valuable hints on diet and marketing.

You can get it without cost if you intend buying a range or cook stove within a year.

HOW TO GET IT. Cut out this advertisement, mail it to the Malleable Iron Range Company, Beaver Dam, Wis., and tell them WHEN (stating month if possible) you expect to buy and you will secure this valuable book free. As the edition is limited, write now.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CONCERT.

The concert in aid of the public school piano fund drew a large audience to the Thistle Theatre last evening.

Harold Jarvis is well known to Edmonton people and was probably the drawing card of the concert. If encore is any criterion, his vocal powers were appreciated. He sang several beautiful and semi-classical numbers in which his excellent training and control as well as his remarkable voice had an opportunity to show, but he overlooked all the old-time spirited, martial, all-join-in-the-chorus variety of music on which he has built his fame, such as "Scots Wha Hae" and "The March of the Cameron Men."

"The Englishman" was the most appreciated number on the program as it was sung with what the musical folk call "verve."

The Handel aria "Where'er You Walk," was perhaps the best selection of the evening, as this sort of music seems to suit Mr. Jarvis voice splendidly.

"Because" and "Dearie" were sung in exquisite voice.

The last number was Newton's "Questions." The encore to this was Tosti's "Goodbye."

And for once, Jarvis kept the Edmonton audiences in their places during "God Save the King." The usual accompaniment to the National Anthem is a stampede for the street. Last night they stayed to hear the music.

Wallace Graham did not arouse the enthusiasm that his selections entitled him to awaken. He was better in the humorous than the serious, but the quality was less in the rendition than in the selections themselves.

He appeared to be too serious in his humor and not dramatic enough in his more serious work. There is a class of humor however which a serious man makes irresistible as a laughter-provoker. In this Mr. Graham finds the most congenial role. His one essay along this line last night was a decided success, when he rendered Whitcombe Riley's "Tradin' Joe."

Misses Crawford and Kempe gave two piano duets and Clarke's orchestra played several selections.

The pleasure of the evening was somewhat marred by the low temperature of the building.

WANTS DAMAGES

(Bulletin Special)

Montreal, Oct. 24. — Charles Veronneau, night watchman, is suing the Canada Company to obtain an indemnity of $10,000 for injuries sustained through an explosion of escaping gas.

Wounded by a charge of duck shot, fifteen-year-old Edward Guertin was taken to the general hospital yesterday afternoon as a result of the discharge of a shot gun fired by Edward Savard.

BOOMING THE HEN.

Farmers Advocate: The work of the poultry fattening stations in Alberta is progressing favorably. The groups gathered around the hen pens at the fairs, all eager to see, to learn, and to know, prove the awakening of the people. The supply of chickens at the fattening stations is unexpectedly large. It all goes to show that the government did the wise thing when a forward movement in the poultry business was inaugurated.

The influence of the fattening stations will however, be felt over only a very small area of the province. The knowledge must be spread abroad. Institutions and poultry fairs must be the order of the day, and a special train—a poultry special—under the command of Conductor Foley, would be an innovation with the merit of originality and the certainty of a large measure of success.

Brisish Columbia Market For Alberta Oats

Alberta Commissioner Inquired Into the Conditions in the Pacific Province

Mr. D. W. Warner, president of the Alberta Farmers' association, who was commissioned by the Alberta government to investigate the conditions of the oat market in British Columbia, is preparing a formal report to submit to the government. Mr. Warner spent about six weeks in British Columbia and visited every important point accessible by rail and water and made careful observations. In conversation with the Bulletin in summing up the conclusions of his observations, he said:

"I find a heavy natural increase of oat-consumption in the lumber business which is expanding as fast as capital and labor can be procured. From what the mill men tell me the expansion can go on for an indefinite length of time. The supply is so far behind the demand, the danger of glutting the market with lumber is so far ahead, that I never do come that it is not too considered at present. When we contemplate the vast territory in western Canada to be settled which must use B.C. lumber for most of its buildings we fall to see how the market can be overdone in lumber. Let the natural course of things help us all it will there is plenty for us to do."

"I find that the first thing which stands in the way of extension of trade with British Columbia is the high freight rates which have to be paid on produce either going west or coming east. The wholesale dealers in Vancouver tell me that if they could get as good a rate west as now exists east, oats could be shipped to Australia between crops and still leave the Alberta farmers a fair price for their product at home. On account of the high freight rates both ways the B.C. rancher is now in many cases raising oats in competition with us instead of raising the fruit which we so badly need in Alberta. If it would come to us at a reasonable price we could consume many times what we now do. The B.C. people are ready to stand with us for a reduction of freight rates and extension of trade in any reasonable way, as they know as well as we that British Columbia and Alberta, each producing what the other must have, will prosper together, each sharing alike in the advantages or disadvantages."

"I was invited to attend a meeting of the Victoria Board of Trade and cordially asked to state my mission to B.C. Every member present expressed himself highly pleased with the course the Alberta Government had taken in investigating markets of our sister province with a view to the interchange of products. They also thought it would be wise for the B.C. Government to follow the same plan and send a commissioner to investigate the Alberta markets for their products. The Vancouver board of trade have been working for years to extend the trade of their province and city this way, and they wish to know why the boards of trade of Alberta have not been doing more to facilitate trade between British Columbia and Alberta. Vancouver is an open port the year round. The lake ports are frozen for several months in the year and grain must be all that time in the hands of the speculators. They claim that if it be a longer water route to Liverpool, the grain could be kept going to market, while if shipped by the lake ports it would lie in the hands of the elevator men while the ports are frozen. If they are right why not send our wheat as well as our oats to the western port?"

When the Panama canal is finished which will be so in a few years western ports will have as good a water route as the eastern ports and a much shorter railroad haul. With terminal elevators on the western coast the problem of reaching the world's market with Alberta products is solved and if we can build great cities on the B.C. coast we are making a greater market for our products. "I failed to find any business man in British Columbia who was asking for a low price for oats, but the elevator companies have been quoting them at pretty low prices, and the farmers are expected to bring in their oats at any price the dealers are willing to pay. If the farmers do this they have only themselves to blame. In this case it is not like the world's markets in wheat. There is a market for all the oats we can send to B.C. at fair prices if we do not glut the market, and the rest can be fed to good advantage to our stock. This will improve the quality of all the meat from beef down to chickens and secure a higher average price than at present. I think if we do this we will find that part of our oat crop which goes in the shape of meat will be marketed to good advantage. If the grain dealers are not satisfied to do business on a fair margin let the farmers do their own shipping."

"While in B.C. I took upon my own account the name and address of every man that it was possible for me to get, who either dealt in or feeds enough grain to pay him to buy it by the car. Any farmer who wishes any of these addresses may have them by coming to me or writing for them. In this way the producer in Alberta and the dealer or consumer in B.C. will find out what the elevator man is doing to them whether fair or unfair. The business men in B.C. and especially the lumbermen see that if the farmers do not get a good price it is a business killer for them.

"I took particular care to explain to them the reason for the low price of oats at the time I was there. Many of the oats were held by the farmers and marketed more steadily than usual. These men are quick to see, and say too, that it is better for them than to have all the oats go into the hands of the speculator and then be forced to pay forty dollars per ton as they have had to do some times. In the summer. It appears very plain to me that oats would have brought a few cents more per bushel if the elevator man had thought so. The B.C. business man knows his prosperity depends so much on the prosperity of the Alberta farmer that he feels that the extra few cents per bushel for oats is money well spent, if the farmer gets it instead of the speculator.

"I want to say right here before the grain dealers make up their mind that we want to drive them out of business, that we want to do nothing of the kind. We think after careful consideration that we need all the grain dealers we have; but we think too that it is possible and would result in profit to both farmer and grain dealer if he is willing to do business on a fair basis. If farmer and elevator man work together, putting the strength of all concerned in one united effort to hold the oats up to a fair price it would create an era of prosperity such as we have never seen. Speculators would pour in at a greater rate than ever before. The price has as much to do with people coming here as the amount of grain which can be raised per acre. That would all be to the advantage of the B.C. people as the more people the more lumber and fruit will be needed, and so they get their return for the price paid for the grain. There is so much which could be said on this subject that it is impossible for me to say it all at once, so will let it rest for this time."

TYPHOID AT SUBURBY.
Toronto, Oct. 22.—The typhoid fever situation at Sudbury has become so serious that the provincial authorities have been appealed to. There are over forty cases in the St. Joseph's hospital and the other hospitals are also full. It is thought that the cases are from the lumber camps to the north of the town, a number of which will be placed under quarantine. The situation at Sault Ste Marie is also said to be serious.

BETTER CLASS OF TAILORING

Has Conquered the Prejudice Which Custom Generates.

The man who wears a comfort last C with shoe does not of necessity wear a Physique Type C suit of Semi-Ready tailoring, but the man who has studied the reason why he will today pay more for a shoe made on a cobbler's bench, will understand why Semi-Ready tailoring must of necessity win all the better class of tailoring trade. No tailor can possibly excel the work on a Semi-Ready suit or overcoat, even though it be but a $15 serge or tweed, for good tailoring helps the new physique type system of the Semi-Ready. The physique types A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, mean more than mere shoe widths, just as do the five variations of each type and the many sizes of each variation. Kelly & Moore will show the real Semi-Ready label to anyone. It is on the inside pocket of coats, trousers and overcoats.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

IN the Oxford Boiler we have taken advantage of every point known to the science of hot water heating.

Without enlarging the boiler we have greatly increased the radiating surfaces, thus almost doubling its power. The fire-pot is, of course, jacketed with water, practically insulating the fire, and keeping its heat within the boiler.

The sides of the fire-pot slant inwards over the fire, giving a greater surface for its action. The first water section is double the depth of other sections and nearer the fire than any other.

All joints are made with our push nipple, no rubber or fabric washers being used. To this is due the fact that they never leak. You cannot afford to install any heating apparatus without first investigating the Oxford systems. We would like to send you our new catalogue, explaining and illustrating the Gurney Oxford steam and hot water apparatus. It tells the whole story, and we send it free on request. Write for it.

Cushing has opened a public works office in Calgary where he will spend part of his time as he finds he can attend personally to a part of his work by having an office in his city as many men in the south wish to call on him in a business way and can do so more conveniently and Mr. Cushing's desire is to serve the public in the best possible manner.

It is understood that the new owners intend erecting a brick building on the property in the early spring.

—The Vegreville hospital "showers" held in the school room of First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon was a most successful affair. The response of the public was most generous. Gifts were received from all denominations, and ranged from papers of pins to blankets and chests of tea. The tables and platform were literally piled with presents, and a large number of ladies were present throughout the afternoon. Tea and refreshments were served from 3 to 6 o'clock. The ladies who have the business in hand wish to announce that some one will be at the school of the First Presbyterian church to receive gifts from any who have not yet availed themselves of the privilege every afternoon of this week from 3 to 6 p.m.

City News

NOTHING DONE.

No progress whatever was made on the paving or street car propositions at Tuesday night's meeting of the council. Ald. Giesbach asked what had been done about the wood blocks. Secretary Kinnaid replied that nothing had been done as they had since been approached by the Barber Asphalt people, who made very favorable propositions, which included taking the whole contract.

Ald. Giesbach pointed out that the price of logs was going up; steadily on the coast and that the price given by the Carbolinum company might not remain. He could see no good reason why the company should not have been required and asked to keep their offer open.

Ald. Mamon thought that the city should buy the wood block now; that the price of timber was going up all the time, and the city could not make any mistake.

Ald. Smith thought the wood blocks were the best. The commissioners were instructed to wire the Carbolinum people in Vancouver asking if they could keep their offer to supply 30,000 yards of block at $1.17 open until Nov. 15th.

CONTRACTS LET

At the city council meeting Tuesday night a contract was let for the new telephone central building to be erected on McDougall street, just above the post office. Johnston & Warren are the contractors and their tender was for $22,538. Work is to be commenced at once and the commissioners hope to have the building housed in by Christmas so that the heavy plant of the automatic central can be put in place.

Wm. Morrison, the outside construction man, who is to act as foreman of the street wiring, has reported for duty and is working today. The commissioners are placing orders for poles, cables and conduits and the outside construction, both of pole lines and conduits, is to be rushed forward as fast as the arrival of supplies will permit.

BUILDING PERMITS

T. H. Mason will build a store on Namayo to cost $1200 and A. C. Caruthers has taken out a permit for store on First street, below the hill, near the Edmonton hotel, which is to cost $1500. A. R. Chisholm will build a frame dwelling to the rear of the Chisholm block, corner of Jasper and Fourth, to cost $3,500.
